Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Senators and Representatives:

During the past ten years economic conditions have been such that the building program for all the State institutions has been limited to the barest necessities. This present General Assembly authorized a number of new buildings provided for in a bond act in March, 1937, and $3,019,000 in bonds were issued and sold and these buildings have either been completed or are now in course of construction. Some other buildings have been obtained by grants from the Federal government and the issuance of revenue liquidating bonds and some of these projects have been finished, while other authorizations have been made and approval given, so that construction will begin on these projects at an early date.

Some of the most imperative needs of our institutions could not be met in this way, because the projects are not self-liquidating, as for instance the fireproofing of the buildings at our hospitals in Morganton, Raleigh and Goldsboro, and other similar pressing demands from practically all of the State institutions and agencies, and hence the necessity for calling the General Assembly to convene in extra session. An enlightened and humane State could not longer neglect to make these essential provisions for the care, safety and security of its people and the next Legislature would have been confronted with the necessity of issuing bonds to pay the whole expense, while the opportunity is afforded the State now to receive by way of grants from the Federal government 45 per cent of the cost, if we act promptly and take advantage of the present appropriation, which is being rapidly allocated. The dead line for all applications is fixed in the Federal statute for September 30, 1938, with the requirement that work must be begun before January 1, 1939. From very careful inquiry I am convinced that in order to make certain that we get the money desired our applications should be filed not later than August 15, 1938, and if you succeed in completing your work in time our applications will be filed by that date.

I am submitting to you the report and recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission. The Commission has visited all the institutions and made personal inspection of their needs for permanent improvements. In addition to this, at my request, the Commission sat in Raleigh last week and heard the heads of these institutions and other State agencies and gave intelligent and painstaking consideration to all claims presented. After canvassing the whole situation they recommend that you authorize a bond issue in the sum of $4,620,000, which is allocated between the various claimants as set forth in their report. The total of the sums requested was over $14,000,000 for buildings and improvements, which did not include the application for highway improvement. The maximum amount of bonds that could be issued at this time under the Constitutional limitation, in addition to those previously authorized, is $5,591,237.88. The Commission's recommendations are $971,237.88 under that figure.

I recommend these matters for your consideration, viz:

1. The bond bill prepared by the Attorney General in accordance with the report and recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission.
2. The bill prepared by the Attorney General enabling municipalities to issue revenue bonds to finance self-liquidating projects authorized therein, subject to the supervision of the Local Government Commission.
3. The question of a North Carolina Exhibit at the New York World's Fair in 1939.

As to the first measure. I did not sit with the Advisory Budget Commission, and therefore can all the more freely commend its work to you, and I strongly recommend the enactment of the bond bill embodying its recommendations. In order to economize your time and save you the necessity of hearing all claims, the Commission spent several days engaged in that work, and while the institutions and other departments did not get all the money applied for, it will be generally agreed that an effort was made to serve the pressing needs of each. While no allotment was made for roads, the authority of the next Legislature to issue bonds was not encroached upon, so that in addition to nearly one million dollars margin unauthorized this year, the next Legislature will have a maximum of an additional $5,000,000 made possible by bond retirements this year, and I shall recommend that roads receive primary consideration when any additional bonds are issued.

I may say that immediately after this session adjourns I hope to be able to make an allocation out of the Highway surplus to enable the Commission to file application for Federal funds to assist in eliminating some of the flat curves and widen some of the dangerously narrow roads. This may be possible because there has been no diversion of the Highway funds for general purposes during the last fiscal year.

The second measure is necessary in order to enable municipalities to issue revenue bonds to share in the PWA funds for self-liquidating projects. The 1935 Act of the Legislature expired in 1937 and it is necessary to have renewed authority so that these local units of government may get the benefit of some of the expenditure of Federal funds for worth-while purposes. This Act has been drawn with a view of accomplishing the desired results without entering the realm of controversial action and I recommend its passage.

I do not think we should repeal the limitations placed on municipal borrowings by the general law, where it operates to create an obligation upon the taxpayers. These limitations have been wisely placed both in the Constitution and the Municipal Finance Act and should be retained. We have had experience in unrestrained spending by which many of our political sub-divisions got in default, and I do not wish a repetition of it. These provisions do not apply to the measure which will be presented, because these bonds are issued against the revenues of the project authorized, and legally do not constitute an obligation of the municipality. However, practically they create a liability because they represent a mortgage on certain resources of the municipality and when they are utilized for debt purposes the taxpayer is required to pay taxes to meet the current expenses and is deprived of the benefit of any revenue from this source. The only wise or safe policy for State or municipality is to confine the expenditures to necessary public improvements, even though the Federal government is paying a substantial part of the cost. Unnecessary spending always results in extravagance and waste.

The third measure, and the only one dealing with matters other than compliance with requirements to share in Federal funds, relates to our participation in the New York World's Fair of 1939. The Commission authorized at your last session has worked diligently and obtained donations in the sum of $22,000. The necessary space has been contracted for to provide for an outstanding exhibit. Unless you make an appropriation we cannot raise the necessary money to make the kind of an exhibit you would like for North Carolina to have and the whole proposition will fail. The next Legislature would be too late. The work will have to begin by September first. The total cost will be in excess of $100,000. Some additional money can be raised by private subscription, but not much. If we are to have an exhibit it would require an appropriation of $75,000. This is not a bond bill and does not require passage on separate days. Representative Fenner, who is Chairman of this Commission, will be in attendance upon the session Tuesday and will present this bill and wishes to be heard upon this matter, along with the other Legislative members of the Commission. Owing to the urgency of this matter I am asking you to give consideration to this measure. Personally I should very much regret to see North Carolina fail of representation at this greatest of all World Fairs.

I sincerely appreciate your presence here today. This Assembly is making history. I do not recall that any other Assembly has met three times within a biennium. But that is not as important to emphasize on the high quality of service which you have given the people of the State. Both former sessions have been characterized by marked efficiency and directness of effort, and your intelligent and patriotic labors have challenged the admiration of the high minded citizenship of North Carolina. The Council of State unanimously approved the convening of this Special Session and shares with me full confidence in your wisdom and foresight. Our State will have to bear a large part of the public debt incurred by the general government for these public expenditures and it is the part of wisdom and good economics to get a fair share of the appropriations to meet our essential needs. If you adopt the program outlined you will have made a definite forward movement and gone a long way toward providing the urgent necessities for State institutions and agencies. I esteem it an honor to be associated with you in the comradeship of service to our beloved Commonwealth.

THE REPORT OF THE ADVISORY BUDGET COMMISSION ON PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS RECOMMENDED FOR THE STATE'S DEPARTMENTS, INSTITUTIONS, AND AGENCIES TO BE CONSIDERED AT THE SPECIAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF 1938

To the HONORABLE CLYDE R. HOEY, Governor of North Carolina:

The members of the Advisory Budget Commission, whose names are hereto subscribed, herewith submit to you this report on the findings and recommendations concerning permanent improvements for the State's departments, institutions, and agencies for consideration before the special session of the General Assembly called to convene in session August 8, 1938.

VISITATION OF INSTITUTIONS

The Advisory Budget Commission just prior to consideration and recommendation of permanent improvement appropriations for the special session of 1938 visited and inspected every State institution. The needs of the institutions were examined very thoroughly and the Advisory Budget Commission has made its recommendations in the light of these visits and examinations.

HEARINGS OF DEPARTMENTS, INSTITUTIONS, AND AGENCIES

The Advisory Budget Commission convened Wednesday, August 3rd, in the offices of the Budget Bureau and heard each department, institution, and agency making request for permanent improvement appropriation. Every agency was given an opportunity to explain its needs, orally as well as by written statement.

PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT APPROPRIATIONS RECOMMENDED

The recent visits to the State institutions and hearings had before the Advisory Budget Commission have enabled the Commission to ascertain the needs of those agencies. In considering the requests for permanent improvement appropriations and in recommending appropriations it was found that these State agencies were modest in setting out requests for appropriations when their actual needs were known and considered. Very few agencies requested any appropriations that would not have been useful to the institution concerned and to the State as a whole in the care of its unfortunates or in the education of its children. It has been a difficult job to any that certain requests should not be granted for certain projects in view of the needs determined by visits or by conference with the agencies concerned, but the limitation on bonds that may be issued has made it necessary that recommendations be less than the requests.

In the case of the three State hospitals for insane, great necessity and special treatment presents itself because of the character of those held in the institutions. Those institutions are veritable firetraps to a large extent, and are now allowed to remain contrary to State law for buildings housing inmates who are locked within. No justification exists for allowing such conditions to remain at the State Hospital at Morganton, State Hospital at Raleigh, and the State Hospital at Goldsboro, which would result in the death of a large number of patients if a fire should break out at night, or possibly even in the day time. It would be impossible to remove the patients in a good many instances because they are bedridden and must be moved by a nurse or attendant. It seems imperative that these buildings must be fireproofed or replaced and brought within the requirements for safe housing of patients who are locked within the buildings. It is recommended to replace many of the existing buildings because they cannot be renovated because of the deterioration which literally amounts to destruction.

In the case of the other departments and institutions, the recommendations cover the most needy projects and do not cover things not absolutely necessary to carry on the work of the institution or agency.

All of the recommendations made are for purposes for which the General Assembly through necessity would be requested to make appropriations within the next two or three years, and it is deemed advisable to cover these needs as best possible while 45% may be had from the Federal government.

CONSTITUTIONAL LIMITATION ON BOND ISSUE

The Advisory Budget Commission has considered very thoroughly the amount of bonds that may be issued under the constitutional limitation, and has decided that it should not recommend bonds to be issued for the full availability. There might be conditions that would make it mandatory that other things be provided, and it is thought wise that some $971,000 be left in the availability for issuing bonds.

The following is a statement of the determination of bonds that may be issued and the result if the bonds proposed in this Act should be issued:

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

I welcome you to the high task of legislating for three and a half million people. It is a great responsibility and carries with it a correspondingly great opportunity. It is not my purpose to submit for your consideration any mandatory measures. Neither shall I identify any particular bill as forbidden, but rather it will please me to give you my sincere views about any or all of the measures of public importance and seek to collaborate with you in an effort to reach a determination that will best serve our state. I shall be very frank in the discussion of public questions, because I have definite ideas as to what course should be pursued. These opinions have not been formed hastily, but after mature consideration and with due regard to all the elements entering into our situation, and solely with a view of advancing the best interests of the whole citizenship of North Carolina.

State Building Program

We have made definite progress in the past two years. Our growth and advancement have been continuous during the present century, but there has been a determined purpose on the part of this state to go forward in these recent years and as a result we now have under way the greatest building program ever undertaken in all the history of the state. It touches every educational and benevolent institution and many departments of government and will provide added facilities and opportunities in each, and relieve much of the congestion previously existing and make it possible for more people to get the benefit of institutional care and treatment without the excessively long delays in admission. This does not mean that facilities will be ample to meet the needs, but great improvement will result from constructing these new buildings and providing additional equipment. This building program will extend throughout the year 1939 and will be completed in 1940. This new construction does not represent an extravagant out-lay in expenditures, but has been confined to essential needs for a growing state and limited to such purposes as would have been necessary even though no federal assistance had been available.

The only bond issue on the part of the State was the $4,620,000 authorized by the special session last August. These bonds were sold in October at the lowest rate of interest ever obtained by this state—2.07 per cent—and bought by North Carolina bankers. This was a fine tribute to the high standing of the state and its unexcelled credit rating. It is your responsibility, as well as mine, to maintain this good record and keep our budget balanced.

Appropriations and Tax Reduction

At the very threshold of this session you are confronted with the insistent demand for increased appropriations and enlarged governmental service for the numerous causes and agencies ministering to the people in the realm of governmental activity. Without opposing these demands and partially admitting some of the needs, another group is urgently insisting upon a reduction of taxes generally, and a modification of some particular taxes now in effect, and expressing very definite opposition to the levying of new taxes or increasing any of the levies now existing. It is perfectly manifest that you cannot satisfy both groups. Candor compels me to say that you cannot reduce the present taxes, and this includes sales tax, if you are to continue the present governmental service, without any increase except the normal and natural growth of the public schools and other institutions and agencies serving the people. The last legislature exempted the basic food articles from the sales tax and it would be most pleasing to make other exemptions and to reduce the rate, but it will be found to be impossible unless you shall reduce, rather than increase, school facilities.

Some people have been misled by the surplus in the general fund which amounted to $5,949,144 on June 30, 1938. Unfortunately most of that surplus will be required to meet the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, since revenues have decreased considerably and will be decidedly less than last year. We will do well to close this fiscal year with a reasonable working surplus. Others have suggested that economies be instituted in state government to save enough to enable taxes to be reduced. I am heartily in favor of effecting economies in every way possible not to do injustice to those who work for the state, but frankly I cannot see where any great saving can be made in the administration of state government. At present it requires less than five cents out of each tax dollar to pay the cost of government, which includes collecting the taxes, and if this was blotted out entirely you still would not have enough revenue to meet appropriations without the sales tax. I do not think you would be justified in reducing the small salaries paid teachers in either the public schools or our educational institutions. Today 68 cents out of each tax dollar in the general fund goes to schools and the money is not extravagantly spent on administrative cost, for the teacher gets 82 cents out of each school dollar, whereas the average for the nation is only 70 cents out of each school dollar. The other 18 cents in North Carolina covers administration, lights, fuel, water, transportation, equipment and other necessary school expenses.

You will be aided in your work during this session by the valuable and illuminating studies made by the various commissions authorized by the last General Assembly, and also the well considered reports and recommendations of the several departments of government, all of which will be transmitted to you. It will not be possible for me to review the recommendations of the commissions in this message, but I commend to you a careful study of each report and full consideration of the intelligent and helpful discussions contained therein.

Education

I continue to regard popular education as the basic need of our people. We can achieve only as we know, and we must improve the condition of the masses of the people and that can only be accomplished through education. The public school is the college and the university for over seventy-five per cent of the children of the state and this university must be made continuously more efficient. It is gratifying to record the definite progress over a period of years and the resultant improvement since the establishment of the uniform eight months term supported by the state. The providing of free school books in the elementary grades has reflected most beneficial results and the enlarged program of vocational training is meeting with enthusiastic response from students and school patrons.

What should be the next step? Definitely a twelfth grade should be provided. There are only six states now that do not have the twelfth grade. North Carolina ought not continue in that number. The Educational Commission very wisely recommends that it be gradually adopted by adding another grade in the elementary school to embrace eight grades, and thus have the remaining four grades in high school. This would require four years for the full adoption of the twelfth grade and would provide a most practical as well as economical method of installing it. The result will be better preparation for the one-fourth of the students who graduate from high school and go to college, and a broader foundation and fuller preparation for the duties of life for the other three-fourths who will not be privileged to attend college.

You ask what about teachers salary? That is an important subject and one that should engage your serious thought. So great has been the increase in enrollment in the public schools that the addition of 350 teachers has been required this year without any increase in the teacher load. You can understand this when I remind you that North Carolina ranks twelfth in population in the nation but eighth in the number of children of school age. By reason of the number of teachers who have raised their certificates to higher grades and the increments which accrue with seniority, together with the added number of teachers required, the public school expenditures will be increased around three million dollars for the biennium. There is only one recommendation that I have to make in this connection and that is that we should provide for increments to be extended for a ten year period instead of eight, which would mean the adding of two years. This would result in a practical restoration of the pre-depression salary schedule for such teachers as qualified under the higher brackets, and would be a substantial encouragement to a worthy and faithful group of public servants who have labored courageously during a trying period for inadequate compensation.

Another thing that seems to me is worthy of consideration is the payment of the teachers salary in twelve equal installments instead of eight. So many teachers throughout the state have discussed this matter with me and they have a desperately hard time in saving enough in eight months to last during the four vacation months. The only objection from any source is that it might be regarded that they were being paid for twelve months and therefore could be called upon for more than eight months service without extra pay. There is nothing whatsoever to this view. The salary and contract would be for eight months, but as a matter of detail the sum total would be paid in twelve installments and there would be no confusion or complication about it. The teacher would be just as free for the unoccupied four months as under the present arrangement. This would probably simplify the financing for nearly all of the teachers.

Higher Education

Our institutions of higher learning are filled to capacity. A great building program increases the need for maintenance. They are bearing aloft the banner of learning and have dedicated themselves in a fine way to the high task of bringing knowledge to the feet of service. They are torchbearers for the development of a finer state. The state is confronted with the necessity of calling upon students attending these institutions to make a larger contribution in the form of tuition charges, as much as we may regret that course. This is not out of line with all other institutions of learning, even those heavily endowed have found it necessary to make higher tuition charges. This would now seem to be essential to aid in meeting increased cost of maintenance. Even then North Carolina is making a most substantial investment in every student who graduates from any of her institutions.

When the present building program is completed every North Carolinian will have cause to be proud of the provision made at the various educational institutions for increased service. The magnitude of the program can be visualized when I tell you that the Greater University of North Carolina, at the units in Chapel Hill, Raleigh and Greensboro, will have around thirty new buildings or projects when the work is finished. Somewhat similar provision has been made — as far as circumstances would permit — for the other colleges at Cullowhee, Boone and Greenville and for the charitable institutions.

Looking ahead you will soon face the problem of devising some plan of coordination so that these colleges will not enter the field of graduate work and duplicate the service provided at the University in its separate units. The very able Commission on Education might well be continued to study college education in line with the valuable study already made of the public schools.

Negro Education

The state provides an eight months school for the negro race in every school district in the state. There are five negro colleges maintained by the state. The teachers in the public schools for negroes do not receive as high salary as the teachers in the white schools, but that is explainable in a measure by the fact that requirements for certificates are not as rigid and do not demand the same standard of learning. This is being adjusted and improved and the leaders of the race who are familiar with the state educational set-up realize that it requires time and effort to work this out on an equitable and just basis of preparation and training.

The two largest negro colleges are the North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham and the A. & T. College for Negroes at Greensboro. Both are doing good work as are also the other three colleges at Fayetteville, Winston-Salem and Elizabeth City. The colleges at Durham and Greensboro ought not to do too much duplication work. They should be related somewhat on the same basis for the negro race as the University at Chapel Hill and State College in Raleigh are for the white race. We have no provision for the education of negroes in special courses of law, pharmacy or medicine. Because it is our duty as a state to make such provision and in harmony with the Supreme Court decision in the Missouri case, I recommend that such courses as deemed necessary and essential be established at the college in Durham. If added courses are required in agriculture or technology they should be provided at the A. & T. College at Greensboro. The new buildings already authorized will simplify this work. My investigation leads me to believe that this arrangement can be made without the expenditure of a very large sum of money. North Carolina does not believe in social equality between the races, and will not tolerate mixed schools for the races, but we do believe in equality of opportunity in their respective fields of service, and the white race cannot afford to do less than simple justice to the negro.

I rejoice in the progress of the negro race and am happy to see the amicable relations between the races in North Carolina. Every good citizen wishes to see both races improve and advance. There is no need for friction and no occasion for racial conflicts. We understand each other in the South and we can work out our destiny in a spirit of consideration and understanding. We believe in race integrity rather than race amalgamation; in race pride rather than race prejudice; in race development rather than race association. I can say without any sort of reservation that the negro does get justice in our courts. If the controversy is between a white man and a negro, and there is any evidence of the white man oppressing the negro, the jury invariably sees to it that the negro gets a square deal. In all cases in prison seeking clemency the color of the skin has nothing to do with the determination of the case. No person, white or black, is permitted to suffer or die at the hands of the law upon any charge until there has been a full and complete investigation into every detail of the case.

Benevolent Institutions

A survey of the institutions comprehended under the title of benevolent reveals the far flung activities of the state. More than 7,000 persons are receiving attention in the hospitals for mental cases at Morganton, Raleigh, Kinston and Goldsboro. Extensive improvements are under way in the physical plants at each unit and methods are being adopted with a view to increasing the attention given to new cases and personal care to be provided for all cases offering hope of mind restoration. More physicians are needed to give sufficient study and treatment to each case so that every measure possible may be adopted to effect a cure. Cured cases make it possible for the admittance of others who need the treatment and cannot be accepted for lack of room.

The new addition to the Western Sanatorium at Black Mountain has been completed and already there are more tubercular cases than can possibly be accommodated. The parent institution at Sanatorium has a long waiting list.

Time will not suffice to mention the various schools for deaf, dumb and blind; the correctional institutions for boys of both races and for girls and women of the white race—and the need for such an institution for the girls of the negro race; the welfare agencies serving broadly in the field of helpfulness in school, institutions, prisons and throughout the state. We can truthfully point to a real advance in the facilities being provided at all of these institutions.

Election Reforms

Fair elections should be guaranteed to the citizenship of North Carolina as fully as legislative provisions can make that result possible. The human equation must always be considered and we can have elections just as fair as we have the will to carry into effect the law. The morality of our people is involved and we owe it to ourselves to see to it that the primary and general elections afford the opportunity of recording honestly and fairly the will of the electorate as expressed at the ballot box. I believe election laws should be uniform all over the state and a good beginning for improving the situation would be a new registration in every county, with provision for registration by mail when necessary. The removal of names accumulated during the past thirty years would deny the opportunity for fraudulent absentee voting. The dividing of large precincts would facilitate voting and reduce irregularities and better regulations for markers would aid in preventing fraud. Other safeguards can and should be provided.

I am fully aware of the demand for the repeal of the absentee ballot law. If I did not believe that the defects in this law could be remedied I would join in that demand. But I am quite sure that an absentee ballot law can be drawn that will be as free from fraud as any other part of the election machinery, and hence I am opposed to denying the right to vote to people who are sick and unable to go to the polls or who are unavoidably absent from home on election day. Forty of the forty-eight states have the absentee ballot law and I am unwilling to admit that the people of North Carolina are not as honest as those of the other forty states. The law can be so framed as to prevent racketeering in absentee ballots and the possibility of wholesale fraud in procuring them, and at the same time preserve the right of the citizen to its legitimate use. I am in favor of that kind of an absentee ballot law and I urge its adoption.

The Problem of Crime

The increasing prison population presents a real problem requiring the thoughtful consideration of the people of North Carolina. When the state assumed full control of all prisoners serving sentences of thirty days and longer the total number of prisoners was 7633 on January 31, 1934. The number now is 9871. Between nineteen and twenty thousand persons pass through the prison in a year. More persons are being arrested and convicted than formerly and then more prisoners are returning to serve second and third sentences. A determined effort is being made through religious teaching, educational instruction and proper discipline to improve the status of persons in prison so that when they are released they will have new interests, higher ideals and better conceptions of the duties of citizenship. The parole office is doing magnificent work in reviewing the cases of prisoners, investigating their records, rewarding good conduct and right attitudes and translating the good work done by the helpful agencies in the prison into rehabilitated human lives, and following up their release by aiding them to secure jobs and giving them that character of supervision that will help them to go straight. I believe definitely in parole. The record justifies my faith. Paroles are revoked promptly when there is failure to comply with the conditions, and it has been necessary to revoke less than ten per cent of those granted. Of the 1413 now on parole less than eight per cent are unemployed and the average wages earned by those employed is $41.20 per month, which amounts to $643,800 per year.

The new agency of probation has been in operation for just a little over a year and fine results have already been achieved. Probation deals with first offenders or such as are deemed worthy of a trial before being incarcerated in prison; parole deals with those persons in prison who are deemed worthy of a trial on the outside. I likewise have great faith in probation and in the short time this system has been in effect 1355 persons have been placed on probation instead of a direct sentence to prison, and they also have a good record for earnings. Less than eight per cent of these have had to be revoked.

The public is entitled to protection. Criminals must be apprehended and punished, but the problem has not been solved when you arrest, convict and sentence the violator. Sooner or later he is coming out of prison and back to society. The great trouble arises from repeaters, who not alone swell the prison population but develop into hardened criminals. I can promise you that we are endeavoring to put into practice the best methods known to criminologists and directed by enlightened thought on the prison problem to help this situation, but the public has a high responsibility to assist in this work. The obligation of the public arises when the prisoner serves his term and is released. If he stays out of prison he must have a job and an opportunity to get in a proper environment. If the civic clubs or churches of every community would provide a proper representative who could be notified by the prison authorities when a person is released from that county, and these organizations would then see the person who has been released and help him find a job and aid him in getting rehabilitated, you will solve the problem of a return to prison in the vast majority of cases.

The Needs of Agriculture

Agriculture is still the basic industry of our state since over half of our people live on the farm and are engaged in farming. We have made some progress in the diversification of crops, in conserving and enriching the soil by crop rotation, lime treatment and legume crops, but we have much yet to do. We are still so thoroughly committed to the so-called money crops that it is difficult for us to get away from cotton and tobacco. This is understandable, for with all of our shortcomings in agriculture, the fact remains that North Carolina stands third among the states of the union in the value of her cash crops—surpassed only by California and Texas. In 1938 our tobacco crop amounted to more than the cotton crop of the empire of Texas and was equal to one-third in value of the wheat crop of the nation—and wheat is a national crop. In cattle, stock, hogs and poultry we are far behind. We are also lagging in growing food crops and food supplies that would enable us to live at home. Traveling over the state you are impressed with the scarcity of cows in the rich tobacco counties. If every family, tenant and land owner, could be supplied with cows, hogs and poultry, and then supplemented with a good garden and canning facilities to provide food for the winter season, North Carolina would increase speedily her agricultural wealth and practically eliminate pellagra, from which over 2000 people die in this state every year, and it results from lack of proper food.

In addition to what I have already said it is my view that the greatest need of agriculture today is better marketing facilities for crops, other than tobacco and cotton, and plants located at strategic points in the state where the farmer could sell anything he grows or raises on the farm from a chicken to a drove of steers and from a bushel of potatoes to a car load of fish and get the market price for his products. Three or four large refrigerating plants in different sections of the state would aid tremendously and any city taking the initiative in this undertaking would build a very sure foundation for its own enduring prosperity. The other special need is for more research work to find other and more profitable uses for the things we grow in such abundance in North Carolina.

With the saving of our soil from erosion and increasing its fertility and productivity we can convert this state into a veritable garden, and we can establish agriculture upon a permanent and profitable basis when we utilize the practical things about us and apply our own commonsense and intelligence to solving our individual problems, and rely upon the government for assistance in the things we cannot do for ourselves. There is still more in the man than there is in the land, but we have both and hence we must succeed.

The Road Question

North Carolina is thoroughly road conscious. Eighteen years ago we began the construction of a state system of hard surfaced highways connecting all the county seats and principal towns of the one hundred counties of the state. We adopted the plan of issuing bonds and building roads rapidly rather than pursuing the slow course of constructing them from current taxes. We have benefitted much from this course in that we now have over 8,000 miles of hard surfaced roads and we have had good roads over a period of years, while other states were building them. We have reaped large development and grown by leaps and bounds during this period as a result of our magnificent system of highways, while many of our sister states were marking time. But we have lost something by pioneering in road building because traffic over these highways has increased so tremendously and the vehicles using them are heavier and larger and operated with so much greater speed than was ever contemplated that it is manifest that these highways are insufficient to stand the strain, and many of them have had to be rebuilt and otherwise standardized and improved. This is no criticism of the early work. It was splendid, but the requirements of today are so much greater that we must widen many of these roads, remove dangerous curves, rebuild some of them and make them safe for those who use them under present conditions. It will require much money to do this necessary work.

We also have 50,000 miles of secondary roads, usually classified as county or farm-to-market roads. The maintenance of these roads is both a heavy expense and a continuing obligation. In order that these roads might be placed in passable condition all the year round I exercised the authority conferred upon me by statute and allocated from the surplus fund two million dollars in August, 1937, and an additional two million in May, 1938, in addition to the regular legislative appropriation to be used for this purpose. I think, there will be general agreement that these secondary roads are now in the best condition for years.

In August, 1938, under the same authority, I allocated $2,200,000 for widening and improving the primary roads, in an effort to procure $1,800,000 from the PWA fund. We did not succeed in getting this, but arrangements were made to allocate so much as could be profitably spent in conjunction with the WPA funds for specific road projects in various parts of the state. The balance of the funds will be used for the purposes of the allotment on primary roads.

The original plan of building a state system of roads has not been abandoned and should not be. The road system should serve the people of the whole state and the whole public. But a sincere effort has been made to give every section of the state comparable benefits from road construction and to provide comparable road facilities as far as circumstances would permit. This does no violence to the idea of a state highway system but rather strengthens the feeling that no part of the state is being neglected.

Bond Issues for Roads

The state has issued bonds in total sum of $115,000,000 for roads. In addition $1,250,000 in bonds were issued for the Cape Fear bridge and $550,000 for the Chowan bridge, making a grand total of $116,800,000. These bonds are being retired at the rate of nearly five million annually, besides interest payments. The bonds outstanding of this date are $82,321,000 but we have an accumulated sinking fund invested in these bonds amounting to $9,891,234, which leaves a balance of $72,432,000. Under our present rate of payment we will liquidate all of these bonds by 1951. The interest payments are growing less each year.

In order to preserve the vast investment which we have made in these hard surfaced roads and to protect the public in the use of them a definite program should be put into effect at once to standardize and modernize these highways. Current funds are insufficient to retire the bonds, pay the interest and do the work imperatively required at this time. Therefore I recommend that you authorize an issue of $5,000,000 to be used for this purpose during the next biennium. The net result of this will be that we will retire only half as many bonds during the next two years, but we will be able to sell these bonds at a much lower rate than the former issues, and hence we will save on interest charges. No bonds were issued for roads at the Special Session last August, and none have been issued for eight years.

Diversion of Highway Funds

This brings me to the policy of the state with reference to the diversion of highway funds. That policy is well settled and I think wisely followed. I share fully and heartily the views of those who oppose diversion, and I have sacredly kept that faith during my term of office. In my Inaugural Message I announced in clear and unmistakable language that I was opposed to diversion but that I believed that it should continue to be possible to apply the 3 per cent sales tax to gasoline for the benefit of the general fund to the extent necessary to meet the appropriations made by the General Assembly when and if the general fund should become exhausted. That policy was considered wise and was adopted two years ago and not one cent has been diverted, because fortunately the general revenues have been sufficient to meet the appropriations. I am in favor of continuing that policy and I do not regard that as diversion.

There are those who wish to reduce the levy on gasoline to 5½ cents for road purposes and levy half a cent for the general fund, making the levy six cents as at present. I am opposed to that. It would be opening the door for greater levies in the future for general purposes and would also result in using the proceeds from the half cent levy whether needed or not. Under our present law gasoline is exempt from the sales tax. Some suggest that the exemption be stricken out and let the consumer pay the sales tax, which would be equivalent to adding another half-cent per gallon. I am also opposed to that method for the reasons already stated and because I think the motorist is paying enough taxes. The present method is fair and just—is not a diversion in fact, but simply permits the application of the sales tax to gasoline to the extent required to meet the imperative necessities of the state and preserve its credit. The other state agencies pay several hundred thousand dollars in taxes annually to the road fund on the gasoline used in the operation of school busses and for other purposes and it is right that they should.

Constitutional Amendment

I am definitely opposed to a Constitutional amendment on the question of diversion. I would be opposed to any Constitutional provision segregating any part of the state's funds or resources for any purpose so they would not be available for the state in the hour of emergency. We have had to meet serious economic crises in the past and we shall have to meet them again. The resources of the state ought not to be locked up by a Constitutional provision so that its General Assembly could not utilize them to save it in a period of dire distress. You can trust the people of North Carolina and their representatives to safeguard this fund. Public sentiment would demand it. But we must not forget that North Carolina has other sacred interests besides roads and we should see the state as a whole.

It will be argued that the people wish to vote on the Constitutional amendment and as evidence you will receive many petitions. Signing petitions has no special significance. If the opportunity was afforded you would get an equally large number of signers in favor of reducing the tax on gasoline from 6 to 3 cents per gallon, but you wouldn't even consider that. You cannot afford to adopt the policy of legislating by petition. The question may be asked why not give the people the right to vote on it anyway? The reason is that you do not submit any other question of similar import to the people and members of the Legislature are charged with responsibility for providing the measures to raise revenue and the expenditure of funds so raised are not properly the subject of Constitutional regulation. The effort is to regulate a temporary matter by provisions of the fundamental law. The Constitutional Convention of New York this year wisely refused to include such amendment in the Constitution submitted to the people.

Let's analyze the situation. The bonds issued for road construction pledge the full faith and credit of the state for their payment and they amount to a first mortgage on all the property in the state. About $73,000,000 of these bonds are still outstanding and the whole state is liable for the payment of every dollar. The state has given the road fund the monopoly on its greatest source of income, to-wit, the tax on gasoline and license taxes on motor vehicles. Now the proposition is that the state shall be forever barred from using any of this fund, no matter how great the emergency, nor how necessary to maintain and protect its own credit.

To illustrate in human relationship: A fond mother borrows $116,000,000 to establish her son in business and mortgages all of her property of every kind to secure it. The son is faithful to his trust, does well in business, uses the money wisely, repays much of the borrowed money. The mother has many other children and interests and demands are heavy upon her, while economic disaster has vitally reduced her revenues during the period of the depression. The son pays a million dollars a year for four years from the revenues of his business to help save the credit of his mother and enable her to meet her obligations. Just as soon as her business improves she does not ask him for any further assistance. In the meantime, the people who sell goods on which the son receives tribute conceive the plan to have the son amend the charter of his company so that no matter what sort of dire necessity may overtake the mother that the son can never again come to her aid financially, and this notwithstanding the fact that all the property of the mother is still under mortgage for around $73,000,000 for borrowed money which the son is using in his business. The question which you will have to answer is: Should the son amend his charter and forever foreclose his right to come to the assistance of his own mother in her hour of need?

No man here would be willing to close the door in this fashion against his mother in the flesh. I am unwilling to offer the opportunity to close the door against the governmental mother—North Carolina, and let it be locked and the key thrown away, while she is responsible for the education of 900,000 children, for the care of over 7,000 helpless people in the hospitals for the insane, for over 12,000 in her colleges, for the other thousands in charitable and correctional institutions, and more than 32,000 old people in need and 20,000 dependent children and with other multiplied demands to be met daily. I see North Carolina as a whole and I would not forget her manifold obligations.

Labor Legislation

The last General Assembly enacted labor legislation placing North Carolina in the forefront of states providing some protection for those who labor in industry. The child labor bill adopted has been accorded high praise and is accepted as setting a standard for the several states. The law prescribing hours for adult males was the first ever enacted in this state. It represented the basis upon which a more perfect measure may be provided, and I commit to you a study of this question without specific recommendation at this time, except to say that this law ought to be amended to more nearly harmonize with present standards.

I rejoice that the lot of all those who work has been improved. Wages are better, hours are shorter, opportunities are greater and there is employment for more people. Peace and good will prevails to a marked degree among employers and employees and there is manifest interest and concern for the mutual well being of all. I heartily commend both the employers and the employed and congratulate each that we have come through the past two years without any major disturbances and with a minimum of friction anywhere.

No Reapportionment Now

I do not recommend a reapportionment of representation by this General Assembly for the reason that the new census of 1940 would require a new reapportionment by the next Assembly. It should be definitely agreed, however, that there will be a reapportionment immediately following the 1940 census regardless of which counties may lose or gain in representation. There can be no legitimate excuse for failure to follow the mandate of the Constitution in this regard and we ought never to ignore this provision.

The Death Penalty

There are four crimes for which the death penalty is prescribed—murder, rape, burglary and arson. In each case where there is a conviction for the highest offense the punishment is arbitrarily fixed and must be imposed by the Court. In many cases both court and jury feel that the extreme penalty ought not to be invoked, but there is no alternative. It seems to me that it would be helpful in the administration of justice if the power to impose a penalty of life imprisonment instead of death was residuary in either the jury or court or both, to be exercised when the facts of the case warranted.

Another matter worthy of your consideration is the possible change from the gas chamber to the electric chair as a means of execution. Those who witness the executions are practically unanimous in the view that the electric chair produces death almost instantaneously and is more humane. I share this view. The state continues to kill in the death chamber and, sad to relate, people continue to commit capital crimes in increasing numbers on the outside.

Safety on the Highways

In the year of 1937 we reached an unhappy peak in the slaughter of men, women and children on our highways, the total number killed being 1123 and the injured numbering 7990. The Division of Public Safety led in an intensive campaign, supported and participated in by the State Highway Patrol, county and municipal officials, the newspapers, radio stations, churches, schools, civic clubs and many other organizations, to create public sentiment for the safe use of the highways. The effort has partially succeeded. North Carolina has become safety conscious and the result has been a reduction in fatalities and injuries. Notwithstanding more cars were licensed in the state than ever before and greatly increased travel upon the highways by those from other states, we had 216 fewer killed upon the highways in 1938. This is encouraging, but we must continue the campaign of both education and enforcement.

I commend fully the work accomplished and believe that an appropriation should be made to continue safety work and more thoroughly organize its activities. In this respect I am moved to earnestly recommend that the State Highway Patrol be increased by the addition of fifty more patrolmen, which will enable this splendid organization to do even more effective work for the state.

Advertising the State

The results of the state advertising program have been most satisfactory. The state is becoming favorably known throughout the nation and its resources and opportunities are being intelligently presented and the many attractions which we have to offer tourists have been heralded to the four corners of the country in advertising and news stories. During the year 1938, 122 new industries came to North Carolina and 70 other industries expanded. These ranged all the way from hosiery mills to a two million dollar cigarette paper manufacturing plant, and a seven million dollar steam electrical plant—the second largest in the world to be erected by a private company. The payrolls of these industries will exceed $11,000,000 annually. More people visited the state last year than during any similar period of its history and this was directly reflected in the greatly increased revenue from sale of gasoline, surpassing all previous records. It is not contended that the advertising program is responsible for all of these developments, but it cannot be denied that good results have been achieved and I sincerely recommend a continuation of the appropriation. More people visited Smoky Mountain National Park this year than any other park in the nation, save one, and careful estimates show that North Carolina tourist business has increased from $25,000,000 in 1936 to over $60,000,000 in 1938. With proper direction I make bold to predict that in less than ten years the tourist business will be worth more to the state than the tobacco and cotton crops combined, and every section will share in this benefit.

Taxation

This important subject has been discussed only incidentally. I shall transmit to you at an early date the report of the Budget Commission, making its recommendations as to both taxes and appropriations. Your greatest task will be raising revenue. I like the idea of formulating a permanent tax measure so that the public may know with some degree of assurance what the general tax policy of the state will be, with the thought that succeeding General Assemblies, instead of revising and re-enacting the whole tax bill, will confine its work to making such changes, modifications or additions as may be deemed wise. North Carolina needs new industries to aid in the utilization of our raw materials and undeveloped resources; to provide profitable employment for an increasing number of workers who wish to work and seek only the opportunity of making an honest living and who are dependable and almost wholly native born. Every section of the state needs these new industries, but especially the eastern part of the state would be greatly helped by added payrolls, as would also the extreme western section.

One of the best inducements for the location of new enterprises is a fair and stable tax system. I do not believe in the policy of offering free sites and tax exemption privileges to new enterprises to locate in the state, for it would not be fair to competing industries already located here and paying taxes, but I do believe in assuring them of fair and just treatment and the same protection of the law accorded every other citizen of the state, both as to his personal and property rights.

Your Commission of Classification of Property has made a most valuable contribution to our tax study and I commend the report to your careful consideration.

In this connection I think if you would authorize the establishment of a real tax research division in the Revenue Department and provide for the services of an expert to devote his whole time to the study of our tax system and the tax systems of other states, you would make a real contribution to the solution of many of our tax problems.

Miscellaneous Causes

Failure to discuss the reports of various commissions or recommendations of departments should not be construed as minimizing their importance. This has special reference to the Department of Justice. How much you can do at this time will have to be determined after you have investigated fully the very able and comprehensive report, but certainly much can be accomplished in the way of coordination. Some confusion exists in the public mind with reference to the new Justice Building to be erected fronting the capitol grounds, on the theory that a department of justice building was being erected before a Department of Justice was established. The erection of this building has no relation to the establishment of any such department. This building is for the purpose of housing all the agencies engaged in the administration of justice, chief of which is the Supreme Court, and has no connection with the consolidation of any departments.

There are so many important causes that will require earnest consideration at your hands, such as the enlarged program of public health, the expanding vocational education work, the pressing demand for extended state library service, greater support for the adult education work, the establishment of a permanent exposition, better regulations for appointing magistrates, providing for rule making by the Supreme Court, strengthening of our state anti-lynching statute, the enactment of a bill for roadside improvement and beautification, the retirement fund for teachers, state and municipal employees, and other similar measures, that I shall have to content myself now with a mere solicitation of your interest in and study of these important matters, some of which I may wish to discuss with you later.

New Social Security Agencies

Under the direction of the Unemployment Compensation Commission over 200,000 workers received payments in 1938 during periods of unemployment which totaled over $8,000,000. This new and complicated social security agency has been set up and administered more economically than most of the other states, considering the number of claims processed, and the workers received this tremendous assistance for the first time last year. The state, therefore, has had a magnificent program of expanding service. The old age assistance, dependent children and help to the blind activity is participated in by the federal, state and county and this has proven a wise and salutary provision, and similar responsibility should be continued. This sort of arrangement has saved the whole program from going on the rocks. The payments now go monthly to 31,664 old people in need, 20,836 dependent children and 1,961 blind people requiring help. The average monthly payments to old people is $9.30, to children $5.56, and to blind $14.60. The numbers will have to be gradually increased and the amounts somewhat enlarged, but this provision for those in need has been an indispensable blessing and has saved much suffering.

Splendid Cooperation

No Governor has ever had finer cooperation from the Council of State and other State officials and those commanding the various departments of State government. I wish to acknowledge my personal debt of gratitude for their loyalty, efficient service and fine consecration to the public good. It has been an inspiration to work with them and share in some measure the service they are rendering the state. We believe that economy is still a virtue in government and I am happy to say to you that your government is making a record in economical administration that has not been duplicated in any other state when you consider the service rendered. Thrift, economy and work are three good words applicable to government as well as the every day affairs of life, and these have found expression in the conduct of your public business.

The Future Outlook

I am proud of North Carolina. I am not unmindful of our shortcomings and limitations. We have grappled with poverty for generations and we are still poor. We lack many things. We have come a long way and we still have a long way to go—but we are on the way. We know the problems to be solved and the difficulties to be overcome, but we are neither discouraged nor dismayed and we shall not be defeated. We are conscious of real accomplishments in the past and of substantial attainments in the present and we know the needs of the future. We are determined that as the lengthening shadows of tomorrow's sun fall across this commonwealth it shall be illumined with a brighter hope for all the people than they have dared to conceive heretofore.

We face the future unafraid. We go forward daringly. We shall be practical enough to count the cost, idealistic enough to see the possibilities, courageous enough to follow the gleam and unselfish enough to make the sacrifice. We will dedicate ourselves patriotically to the high task of state building. Rich in history, hallowed in tradition, unfailing in faith and unyielding in loyalty—this citizenship rises to meet the future with resolute purpose and high hope. United in the common bonds of good will, free from class distinctions and racial hatreds, from group antagonisms and factional prejudices, we shall educate our children, train and equip our young men and women for work and make them self-reliant and independent, care for the unfortunate, minister to the old and afflicted, develop our industries and improve our agriculture, enrich rural life and better the condition of those who labor, raising the standard of living for all and preserving here the essence of free government, where human and property rights shall be safeguarded and every constitutional guaranty of the citizen held sacred.

With a fresh baptism in the faith of the fathers, a new reverence for God and spiritual values, a better understanding of the brotherhood of man and a determined purpose to lift humanity to higher levels, we can build here in this blessed state a civilization that will save the nation."

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message is received from His Excellency, Governor Clyde R. Hoey:

Monday, January 9, 1939.

To the Honorable, The General Assembly of North Carolina:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the proposed Budget for the biennium July 1, 1939, to June 30, 1941, fiscal years 1939-40, and 1940-41. The Budget Report will be found on pages XX to XXVIII inclusive, which gives a summary of the recommendations and a condensed statement of proposed revenues and expenditures. This report also sets forth some of the reasons for the recommendations.

Along with the Budget I am forwarding for consideration by your Honorable Body the Budget Appropriation Bill and the Budget Revenue Bill and the Machinery Act. You will observe that neither of these measures make any provision for new expenditures that would be necessary if the twelfth grade is provided or retirement fund established. The Commission has not sought to anticipate the action of the General Assembly with regard to either.

The members of the Advisory Budget Commission have given patient and intelligent consideration to all of the matters embraced in this report, and it represents their considered judgment after a full investigation into the claims and needs of the various institutions, departments and causes, and also the probable revenues to be realized from the measure proposed for your consideration.

You will discover that the tax measure proposed contains only a few changes from the present law, and they are comparatively unimportant. The Commission did not think it wise to propose a general increase in taxes and I fully share that view. However, unless the present provision is continued which makes it possible to apply the sales tax to gasoline for the benefit of the general fund, if needed, it will be necessary to find additional revenue by levying new taxes or increasing the rates now in effect. The reason is clear. You cannot take the risk of having a deficit unless some cushion is provided, otherwise you might find the State seriously embarrassed in mid-biennium.

The objection to levying more taxes is two-fold: first, it is extremely difficult to levy additional taxes without doing an injustice to already burdened tax-payers; and second, if business should develop satisfactorily the new taxes will not be necessary. It is never justifiable to collect taxes from the public except to meet the absolute needs, and the accumulation of too large a surplus is an incentive to extravagance.

The advantage of the provision of the present law is that no part of the sales tax as applied to gasoline will be transferred to the general fund unless it is absolutely necessary to meet the appropriations, if and when the general fund should become exhausted. This obviates the necessity for levying and collecting unnecessary taxes, and at the same time provides a sure method of protecting the State's credit.

You will be urged to repeal certain taxes upon the ground that some other states do not levy them. It should be borne in mind that those states do not provide public service in any wise comparable to that made available to the people of North Carolina. Our state provides an eight months school term for every district, while in these other states the burden of maintaining the school system rests largely upon the counties and municipalities. Here over 68 cents out of each dollar from the general fund goes to schools. These taxes in North Carolina are not made necessary by the expenses of administering government, but rather because of expenditures made for the public benefit in schools and similar services.

I need not emphasize the necessity of providing for a balanced budget. No appropriations should be made beyond the available funds to be realized from dependable sources of revenue.

I commit this important subject of legislation to your earnest consideration.

The message is referred to the Committee on Finance and Appropriations.

EVENING SESSION

SENATE CHAMBER,
Tuesday, January 31, 1939.

The Senate meets pursuant to recess, and is called to order by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Horton.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Tuesday, January 31, 1939.

Mr. President:

W. A. BAKER,
Principal Clerk.

The President announces that in accordance with the Joint Resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Legislature, the hour having arrived for the delivery of his message, the Senate, preceded by its officers, will repair to the Hall of the House of Representatives, there to sit in Joint Session with that Honorable Body.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Horton.

Mr. Cherry of Gaston County, on the part of the Committee appointed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives to escort His Excellency, Governor Clyde R. Hoey, to the Hall of the House, presents Governor Hoey, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I am highly appreciative of the invitation to appear before this Honorable Body to discuss the important question of our fiscal policy and I welcome the opportunity to lay before you fully and frankly my views on the revenue measure and appropriation bill. I should like to discuss other matters, but the limited time will require that only these matters be considered.

I have profound respect for the opinions and convictions of every member of this body, and likewise for the people of the state, but you are confronted by a condition and not a theory, as President Grover Cleveland was accustomed to say, and I summon you to a study of the facts in regard to our situation.

It is gratifying to note that the considered judgment of those who have given the subject full thought seems to be in agreement that there should not be a constitutional amendment segregating any part of our state funds and making it impossible to utilize them for the protection of the credit of the state in a period of emergency, and hence no constitutional amendment on the question of highway fund diversion should be submitted. I sincerely trust that this shall continue to be the policy of the state.

The next question arising is the much discussed proposition of applying the sales tax to the gasoline fund if the general revenues are insufficient to meet the appropriations. This is called by its opponents a diversion of highway funds, and those who oppose this policy style themselves anti-diversionists. This is a misnomer. They are really exemptionists. They are asking special favors for a special class and are seeking to change the law that has been in force for four years. We are seeking no change in the law. We are merely asking for the re-enactment of the statute originally passed in 1935 and adopted again in 1937. The law in 1935 provided for an arbitrary transfer of $1,000,000 each year from the road fund to the general fund, and then allowed the application of the sales tax to the extent of the total of three per cent of the gasoline fund. The Legislature in 1937 struck out the mandatory provision as to the transfer and under this law not a dollar has been used thus far. The question arises upon the continuation of this law. The anti-diversionists say we will use $7,000,000. They base that claim upon the fact that there is set up in the budget $2,500,000 for each year of the next biennium, and they say that we will need to use $2,000,000 for this fiscal year which ends June 30, 1939. That reasoning does not hold good. For instance, in the budget of 1937 there was set up in exactly the same way $2,100,000 for each year, making a total of $4,200,000 for this biennium and the same argument was made two years ago. Now one of those years has passed and not a cent has been used so they have dropped down to $2,000,000 for this biennium. It may not be necessary to transfer a dollar this year, dependent altogether upon revenue collections. The only reason a larger amount is set up in the budget for this biennium is because a larger quantity of gasoline has been sold and hence the total would be greater.

Diversion or transfer under the Budget Revenue Bill for the next two years will depend upon three factors:

1. Amount of general fund appropriations.
2. Taxes levied in revenue bill.
3. Trend of business during next two years.

If we draw a straight line between the general and highway funds, so that there can be no interchangeable use, even on a contingent basis and to a limited extent, of taxes on gasoline for general fund purposes, that necessarily raises the question as to the exemption of gasoline from the sales tax for the general fund, levied on all other articles of commerce except a few primary food articles. When the gasoline tax is completely circumscribed for a special use for the benefit of the motorist, has the motorist then met his obligation to the general fund, as has the purchaser of other articles of commerce? The answer must necessarily be no. Gasoline is not as essential as many other articles that pay their full share of sales tax for support of schools and other general fund purposes; for instance, necessary clothing and food articles other than exempt items.

The issue, then, that is so generally presented as diversion, and as an injustice to the motorist, is more properly a demand for exemption of gasoline from the obligations imposed on other articles of commerce, and of special and favored treatment for it. It would be a complete answer to the diversion argument to suggest that even a contingent diversion can be avoided by repealing the exemption of gasoline from the general sales tax act. That would give a direct tax to the general fund on the same basis of other articles of commerce and equal to the maximum amount that can in any event be diverted under the Budget Bill. I have not suggested, and do not now advocate that course, because that would mean an additional tax on the motorist of about six-tenths of a cent per gallon on gasoline. If that were done the purchaser of gasoline would then be meeting directly and equally his obligation to the general fund as purchasers of all other merchandise and commodities do, and the budget can be balanced without even the contingent diversion provision.

All these matters are of course legislative responsibility, but it seems to me the better course not to levy this additional tax, when it may not be necessary to have it, but to leave the gasoline contribution to the general fund on the contingent basis as provided in the present law and of the budget bill. In any event it cannot be used beyond the equivalent of the 3 per cent tax paid to the general fund by the purchases of all other articles of commerce, except the exempted food items, and in no sound view can this be possibly held as a discrimination against gasoline or the motorist. To the extent that there is any discrimination it is in the exemption and in favor of gasoline. Oil companies, motor companies and dealers, contractors and motorists pay less taxes on their property by reason of State support of schools, and pay no taxes on their property for State maintenance of schools and other general fund obligations of the State. Should they not be subject to at least the contingent and limited liability for these purposes imposed in the present statute and in the budget bill? If the full amount authorized should in eventual experience be found necessary they would then be paying their equal share of tax to the general fund and no more.

My views on this question of diversion of road funds have not changed. I have always been opposed to a raid on the road fund for any purpose. In my inaugural message two years ago this position was clearly stated when I said:

"I shall insist that the road funds should be preserved and used for the purposes for which these taxes have been levied and the revenues collected, with no diversion of this money except such amount as will be justified by the sales tax levy, as previously authorized."

That is my position today. This same law is in effect. Some publication has been made of this statement of mine, but the sentence was cut in half and the qualifying statement about the sales tax omitted. I cannot commend that form of propaganda.

Let me reassure you with regard to the road funds. Some of the discussions would have you believe that the county roads would be neglected. What is the basis for this? The budget bill carries an appropriation of $6,500,000 each year for maintenance of county roads against an appropriation of $5,800,000 each year for the past biennium, making an increase of $1,400,000 for these county roads. Retirements of both primary and secondary roads increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000 each year, which doubles this amount and makes a million dollar increase for the biennium. The bill also includes $1,500,000 for betterments each year on both kinds of roads, and also $3,500,000 each year for maintenance of state roads. In addition to this full appropriation is made to meet all federal funds for new construction, and besides this $500,000 each year for roads in towns and cities and $225,000 each year for parkway roads. Full provision is made for debt service and sinking fund. And as a further safeguard the bill provides that the obligations of the roads must first be met before the transfer of any amount is made to the general fund for any purpose. Therefore the talk about taking the money away so the county roads would suffer is very far beyond the mark.

This administration does not need to argue its friendship for roads. The record so far shows not a dollar transferred and no change is asked or sought in the law. Especially should there be no concern on the part of those who wish to see the highway surplus applied to the improvement of the roads. My constant purpose has been to get the people living on county roads out of the mud. In July 1937 I allocated $2,000,000 to the secondary roads and again in May 1938 another $2,000,000. In January 1939 another allocation of $2,500,000 was made for betterments on state and county roads, and $1,000,000 of this was made available for use in connection with a WPA allocation from federal funds of $3,000,000 more to go largely for county roads wherever profitable projects can be worked out. This represents a total allocation out of the state funds by me as director of the budget of $6,500,000, largely for the benefit of secondary roads. Many of the groups most active in this fight under the banner of anti-diversionists have complained because so much was being done for the county roads and offered statistics to show that practically all of the gasoline tax came from use of the primary roads and hence we should build more super-highways, instead of doing so much for county roads.

The argument may be made that if this bill passes there will not be any surplus to allocate to the roads in the future. My answer is that we now have exactly the same law that is proposed for re-enactment and all of this money was allocated under it and all of the much discussed diversion was set up in just the same way in 1937. See pages 6 and 7 of the Budget and you will see that $2,000,000 was for the preceding biennium and $4,200,000 for the present biennium, making a total of $6,200,000 shown two years ago in the budget. This budget shows $7,000,000 because the increase in gasoline would make that difference. Only $2,000,000 of the $6,200,000 was used and so far none of the possible $7,000,000 has been used. Then, wouldn't it seem that an undue amount of excitement has been generated in this effort to change the law?

May I suggest to those who are so agitated over the possibility of transferring this money to the general fund that the surest way to prevent this is to strengthen your revenue measure rather than change this law. You can also reduce your budget appropriation bill if you find that possible without doing injury or injustice to some essential and necessary public service. We are admonished that the budget is the largest we have ever had. I am quite conscious of that, but I call your attention to the six men who compose the Advisory Budget Commission with me—former Senator James A. Bell of Charlotte, Senator Jack Joyner of Statesville, Speaker D. L. Ward of New Bern, Representative Victor S. Bryant of Durham, former Senator James H. Clark of Elizabethtown, and Honorable A. S. Brower of Durham. I venture to say that you will not find six more intelligently conservative men in the state, who have had larger experience and are more intimately acquainted with the state and its needs. You are invited to review their work and make such additions or reductions in the revenue measure or the appropriation bill as your study and investigation may warrant, but I urge definitely upon you the importance of a balanced budget, and of providing dependable revenue for the next biennium.

Frankly, I do not believe you can make secure the general revenues without continuing the present cushion to take care of fluctuating receipts. For illustration, the general fund revenues are responsive to every change in business conditions—the highway revenues are not. We began this fiscal year with a surplus in the general fund of around $6,000,000, but this fiscal year our general fund collections will probably be $4,000,000 less than last year, although the same laws are in force covering revenue collections. During the same period the highway fund collections will increase a million over last year. You have two sources of revenue—the general fund subject to severe changes even in slight depression periods, and the highway fund which is more largely depression proof. If you do not continue the law as it now is and make it possible to transfer an amount equal to the sales tax on the gasoline fund if necessary, you may find conditions during the next biennium so that the salaries of teachers would have to be reduced and other damaging reductions made in appropriations to the institutions, while the road fund continued to enjoy prosperity. You cannot afford to take that chance. The only other solution would be to levy a large amount of new taxes which would greatly disturb the public and business, and which will not be required if business continues to improve. Again it is not a theory, but a condition which you are required to deal with.

A brief review of the history of good roads in this state would be informative. In 1921 bonds were issued in the sum of $50,000,000 for building hard surfaced roads, followed by other issues until a total of $115,000,000 in bonds were issued by the State of North Carolina for building roads. All of these bonds pledge the full faith and credit of the State and every dollar of property in the State is liable for the payment of all of these bonds and interest. They were issued against the resources of the State, not against the road fund. Under the present policy of payment all of these bonds will be retired by 1951.

The General Assembly provided for the tax on gasoline and automobile license to be placed in the road fund to pay bonds and interest and to create a fund for road purposes. Then the number of automobiles was small comparatively and the total taxes were correspondingly small. Both grew rapidly, until today this is the most dependable source of revenue the State has.

The road fund now receives not alone the gasoline tax of six cents per gallon and automobile license fees, but also all fees for public and private trucks, motorcycles, operators license, chauffeurs license and penalties. In addition to this the Legislature in 1931 gave to the roads the bus and franchise taxes and for hire licenses—which is the same as franchise, all of which properly belonged to the general fund under any logical classification. The reason for levying it under the road use idea was to avoid any possible question of interstate traffic, but that possibility was very remote. Ever since 1931 the road fund has been getting all of these franchise taxes which everywhere are regarded as general fund revenues. I am not suggesting taking these funds away from roads, but I do wish to call attention to the fact that these particular franchise and for hire taxes amounted to $973,794 for fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, and $956,385 for the year ending June 30, 1938, making nearly two million dollars for these two years. Just suppose that it should be necessary to transfer $2,000,000 this year to meet general fund appropriations—though I do not believe it will be—that would just be getting back the franchise taxes which are general fund revenue in reality anyway, and that would not be even touching the gasoline sales tax fund.

Upon the other hand, some one may suggest that the general fund profits by collection of gasoline and oil inspection fees in excess of the amount required for inspection purposes and that this should belong to the road fund. There is no legitimate basis for this contention. This law was passed over thirty years ago before we had a foot of State built concrete road and it applies to inspection of kerosene and other oils as well as gasoline and is properly a part of the general fund. Of course the increased consumption of gasoline has greatly enlarged the revenue derived from this inspection tax.

You hear the argument that so many agencies of government have been unloaded on the highway fund for support. Let's see what the facts are. It is true the State prison was combined with the Highway Department, and while this is an expensive adjunct of the Highway reorganization, it can unquestionably be utilized better for road work than in any other field. Something had to be done to find work for the increasing number of prisoners and road work offered the best opportunity for employment, hence it was consolidated with the Highway in 1931. But the most unprofitable part of the prison population is represented by the short term prisoner, 30 to 60 days. The expense of clothes and examinations and treatments serve to make these short termers an almost total loss.

It is customary to point out parole and probation as charges upon the highway funds. It is true that these agencies are supported out of that fund, but both are economic helps to the road fund. For instance, there are now 1481 prisoners who have been released and are on parole and under welfare supervision. It would cost an average of one dollar per day to keep them in prison. The total cost of the parole office on this number of prisoners is less than ten cents per day. With a slightly increased force more investigations could be made and a larger number found who could safely be paroled. The same thing applies to probation. During the short period since this agency was established 1355 had been placed on probation prior to January 1, 1939, all of whom would have been in prison with the expense of upkeep but for probation. Of course the prisoners are made to work and the service is worth something, but there are a great many more than are needed and it is an economic benefit to keep them out of prison. The expense of probation is small per probationer. Parole and probation are both beneficial to the highway fund since their work results in distinct savings, aside from the splendid work of reclamation and rehabilitation involved.

Complaint is sometimes made that the State Highway Patrol is supported out of highway funds. The chief duty of the patrol is to police the highways and aid in keeping the roads safe for the travelling public. Incidentally, last year the highway patrol collected enough extra money for the highway fund from overloaded trucks and improper licenses to pay for the whole patrol, so that it was no burden upon this fund. In addition, stolen automobiles were recovered to the value of $198,746, and fines and costs went back to the school fund and counties in the sum of $428,000 for arrests for road violations. You may say why have the patrol collecting revenue? The answer is that the only revenue they collect is for overloading and improper licenses and you can only get this on the roads. If the patrol did not perform this service then it would require a duplication of officers with double expense to stay on the roads and check up on these violations.

Another thing worthy of consideration is that the School Commission and other state agencies pay about three hundred thousand a year in taxes on gasoline used by school busses and other agencies, all of which goes to the Highway fund, yet there are those who say that the road fund should not pay a cent, under any condition, to aid the schools.

The whole advertising campaign is paid for out of the general fund, while the road fund profits much from increased tourist travel, as evidenced by greatly increased gasoline sales last year.

An advertisement presented by the anti-diversionist makes the following exhibit: "Revenue receipts for road fund last year $32,000,000, proposed diversion $7,000,000." The implication is that this would leave only $25,000,000 for road purposes. To show the fallacy of this I need only refer to the fact that four years are covered, being two bienniums, in the suggested transfer of $7,000,000. Therefore, any fair comparison must necessarily take into account four years of revenue receipts for road funds, and four times $32,000,000 would make $128,000,000, and when you subtract $7,000,000 from that it would leave $121,000,000. This is just a sample of the sort of representations which are being made to the people on this question.

Upon an impartial review of the whole subject it must be apparent that North Carolina has not only been fair, but generous in dealing with her whole highway system. She has provided and is now proposing to provide better for the roads than any other interest in the State. I am thoroughly interested in our primary and secondary roads and propose to apply every available dollar to their improvement and betterment. The people of North Carolina need give themselves no concern about this much discussed question of diversion. The roads are going to receive preferential consideration and treatment, but you, Gentlemen of the General Assembly, must see the State as a whole. We must not neglect childhood. Unless we provide education today it will be too late tomorrow. Solicitude has been expressed lest the roads to the school houses shall not be kept in proper repair. I share that solicitude and have provided and am providing the funds for that purpose. But what shall it profit the children to have a road to the school house if there is no money to run the school. The voiceless thousands in our institutions for mental treatment and those laboring under other handicaps, as well as the old and indigent, have no special pleaders to present their cause. We dare not forget our obligation to these. The State is one body, having many members. I am unwilling for some to famish and perish while others grow strong and powerful. Let's comprehend a commonwealth of human beings and visualize our duty to protect the whole. I maintain that the State owns the roads—the roads do not own the State.

I shall be happy to stand with you before the people of North Carolina in justification and defense of the policy of this State in applying the sales tax to gasoline to the extent necessary to meet the appropriations if the general fund should prove insufficient for that purpose. That policy is no diversion of the road fund. It is the safest way to protect the road fund from real diversion. Why do I say this? Because when you once begin levying a direct tax on gasoline for general purposes the way is then open and the bars are down, and there will be a constant increase. The present policy has been established for four years and it sets a definite limitation—the amount of the sales tax—with the provision that none will be used unless needed, and under this same law none has been used in this biennium.

But the anti-diversionist says it will be needed this time. How do you know? It was estimated two years ago that it would be needed but it wasn't. You might be interested to know that when business improved during the last fiscal year the revenues in the general fund exceeded the estimates for that year by $3,252,985. If business should continue to improve, revenues would exceed the estimates again next year.

The danger to the highway fund in pursuing a different policy is indicated by the action in Louisiana, Texas and other states. For example, Louisiana now levies four cents per gallon on gasoline for road purposes and two cents per gallon for social security and public welfare. Texas gives one-fourth of the gasoline tax for the support of schools and this raised $12,000,000 for schools last year, and they are now moving to add another cent on the gallon. Instead of stirring opposition to the sane and reasonable policy which this State has adopted and is following, those who are really interested in highway improvement and development should be giving us their support, to prevent a movement for real diversion.

With reference to the bond issue of $5,000,000 suggested for the standardizing of our primary roads, I leave that entirely with you. My recommendation of this has absolutely no relation to the transfer of a dollar of highway funds and the need and wisdom of the action would not be affected thereby. It was my thought that this improvement should be made on the primary roads and then if we do not have to transfer any funds, and I hope we shall not, the added surplus could be used to make still further improvement to our whole road system. The net result of issuing these bonds would be that we would only retire five million in the next biennium instead of ten million, and the roads would get this added benefit, with a much lower rate of interest. However, I do not press this bond issue and whatever course you may decide upon will meet my approval.

Speaking specifically, if you gentlemen will carry out the general program presented to you for the government of the State for the next two years, including the road bond issue, I can promise you that we will do more for our county roads and our primary roads in the general improvement, retreatments, and re-surfacing of roads, as well as the widening of narrow roads and standardizing of our primary system, during the next biennium than for any previous time since the State took over its entire road system, and all of this without increasing the taxes on the motorist.

I call upon the people of North Carolina to bear witness to the sustained and continuing purpose of the members of your General Assembly to serve your best interests and I admonish you to trust them. I do not ask you to write or wire them, because you do not know the situation confronting them and the problems pressing for solution. I dare say that those of you who have wired or written your Senators or Representatives to vote against our present law would not have done so if you had been in possession of all the facts, and if you were here as members charged with the responsibility of legislating for the whole State, I would be entirely willing to trust you to determine this question, confident that you would not fail your State.

I thank you for the privilege of addressing you. I have spoken frankly and candidly. It is my confident opinion that with the improvement in business which will surely come if the war clouds pass away that the general fund revenues will almost, if not quite, take care of the estimated appropriations and the necessity will not exist to transfer any considerable sum from the highway—certainly I do not expect it to be necessary to transfer $2,000,000 this year. The necessity for the future will be determined by your revenue measure and appropriation bill and by the trend of business. I speak out of my intimate personal knowledge of the whole affairs of our State gained through long experience, beginning 40 years ago when I was barely 21 and sat as a member in this House. Added to this was another term in the House and Senate, and a study of our governmental structure and accomplishments for purposes of discussion in every campaign since that time. I am prepared to say that this State is dealing fairly with every interest. We are anxious for our State to grow. We welcome new industries and enterprises to give employment to our people and aid in developing our resources. If we hope to get these we must not increase taxes unduly. I think we can justify our present taxes on business because we offer reduced ad valorem taxes in our towns and counties as a result of the large assumption of state service in connection with schools and other causes.

But I also warn you that we cannot and must not neglect our schools, charitable and educational institutions. The whole State must move along together. I am willing to be guided by experience and be sanely cautious as to our expenditures, but it would be suicidal to be bound by the fears of the dead yesterdays. It is the part of wisdom to take counsel of the danger signals and avoid every form of extravagant spending, but we cannot afford to be terrorized by the gloomy forebodings of the unborn tomorrows and let them throttle the powerful pulsations of a growing State.

We are living today. We must meet the responsibilities of this hour. The challenge to us is to perform our duty fearlessly and courageously and guard sacredly the destiny of our State. I know the heart of North Carolina. When the people know all the facts they will not be willing to have our whole legislative program disrupted and the manifold interests of the State jeopardized by the change which the anti-diversionists are seeking to make in the law under which we have been operating satisfactorily for the past four years. After the noise and din of this discussion has passed if all of our people will forget their differences, unite their energies and consecrate their efforts to the consummate task of State building we shall establish here a commonwealth worthy of the high tradition of the fathers and a fit heritage to be bequeathed to the children of tomorrow.

Senators Umstead, Hatcher and Lumpkin submit the following statement relating to S. R. 34, a resolution to declare the policy of the General Assembly of North Carolina with reference to the construction and maintenance of an adequate highway system in the State of North Carolina, which is ordered recorded in the Journal:

When Senate Resolution 34 was introduced those who signed the Resolution wished to do two things: First, they wished to secure economy in government in North Carolina through the reduction of certain appropriations contained in the Appropriations Bill; Second, they wished to secure for the secondary road system of the State a definite program that would insure the country people of the State better roads. Judging by the action taken this week by the Committee on Appropriations it seems that we have a chance to secure the first of these objectives. Judging from the definite promises made by Governor Hoey on Tuesday night in regard to the handling of road funds as well as other funds we certainly have a chance to secure the second objective.

For these reasons the proponents of this Resolution who are members of the Finance Committee do not wish to file a minority report.

Upon motion of Senator Lumpkin, the Senate adjourns to meet tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

That the North Carolina delegation to the National Congress be, and it is hereby requested to make, or cause to be made, an immediate investigation of the administration of the Federal Housing Act as it pertains to North Carolina borrowers, and particularly as it pertains to would-be small home owners, and if discrimination is found to exist, said delegation in Congress take steps to immediately eliminate same and to perfect arrangements whereby North Carolina citizens may obtain full benefits under said Act.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of the North Carolina delegation in the National Congress.
